ImageVault™ – Working with pictures is easy

ImageVault provides image and image bank management functionality to EPiServer. ImageVault improves EPiServers ability to work effectively with images and files for web publication.

All websites need a well-functioning file and image-version handling system. Good images lift the overall impression of a website. Working with images on a website can be complicated and can require a certain level of “know how”. In the standard version of EPiServer it is difficult to be in control of images and files that are on the website.

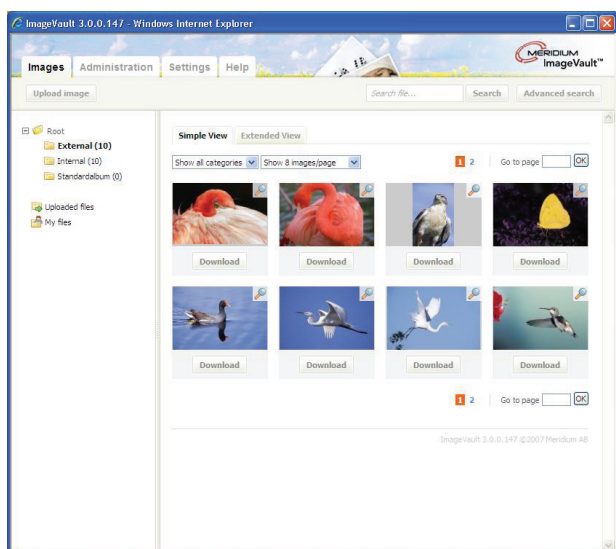

Images are automatically converted to the right format and size based upon the look of the template style. The only thing the user needs to do is to choose an image. ImageVault also simplifies categorising and searching for images. ImageVault even works with external search engines, e.g. SiteSeeker.

Through ImageVault, administrators and editors can gain full control of all images. Editors can carry out simple image editing directly in their browser.

By using ImageVault, you also get a simple web-based tool which makes central image storage easier as well as de-centralised access to all of the company's/organisation's joint images.

This means that several people can share the same image without the original image being affected or destroyed.

Create functions such as slide shows, image galleries with zoom functions with the well documented API.
